

Build with a company that was built on quality

We started this company peeling one log at a time. It was a simple concept: give the client a product that will last generations. Fast forward years of experience and investments in state-of-the-art kilns, and we assure you get the best service and materials in the industry.

Our logs are milled to exact specifications, stored under shed roofs, dipped in a preservative and most importantly, kiln-dried.

We take care of the details.

Ninety percent of other log manufacturers do not provide the kiln-dried advantage.*

We've evolved

In 1990, we founded our business to cater to the do-it-yourselfer and builder by offering a kiln dried, handpeeled product direct from the sawmill. Clients have the flexibility to purchase a single log post to a complete log package.

Choose from SIX Full log corner options

Handpeeled or rustic hewn finishes

Our clients wanted more

Today, we offer you a full service home company because we were asked to do so. Homeowners recognized the value of our seasoned staff guiding you through the building process. They experienced the attention to detail and personal service that saved them money. They saw the advantage in dealing with a company that produces the product line. We control the quality, the inventory, and the price.
